Death Claims

Estimable Woman

Mrs. Emma Mulliner, who has been a Great Sufferer From Heart Trouble, Passes Away Early Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Emma Mulliner, wife of Mr. B. Y. Mulliner, passed away Tuesday morning after an illness of over two years of heart trouble. For the past several months she has been bedfast and the end was not unexpected. Mrs. Mulliner has lived in Lehi most of her life, but has moved around a great deal with her husband. She leaves a husband and one son, Lazelle, who is a grown young man. Her other surviving relatives are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Child, Prof. G. N. Child, Francis Child and E. J. Child, brothers, and Mrs. Louise Rhodes, Mrs. Eva Robson and Mrs. Della Hanson, sisters.

Funeral services were held in the Tabernacle in Thursday Morning at eleven o'clock.

Joseph Anderson of the First Ward bishopric presided at the services, the speakers were: Dr. H. C. Holbrook, Dr. F. D. Worlton, Edward Southwick and George Schow. Solos were rendered by Arthur Livingston and Mrs. M. S. Lott.

her life was read:

"Mrs. Emma Mulliner, daughter of John J. and Elizabeth A. Child, was born in St. John, Tooele County, Utah, July 30, 1866. She came to Lehi with her parents to live when nine years of age, where she grew to womanhood, taking an active part in church and social affairs.

She was married to B. Y. Mulliner October 24, 1883. To them have been born four children, three of whom died at birth or in early childhood, leaving one surviving son, now 21 years of age.

Although Mrs. Mulliner's health has been unsatisfactory for several years, it is only during the past few months she has been confined to her bed.

In spite of physical handicap she was an active worker in the church, having acted as a Sunday School teacher, as supervisor of hand work in the Primary Associations of the four wards of Lehi, and as teacher in the Relief Society.

Mrs. Mulliner lived a pure, faithful and useful life. Through her frail body worked a beautiful spirit, ever full of hope and good cheer, radiant with tender love and making friends with all whose good fortune it was to know her.

She died 3:35 a. m., December 8, 1914, age 48 years, 4 months and 8 days. Her husband and son, both parents, three sisters and three brothers survive her."

Fire Department

Tenders Resignation

City Council Defers Action and Matters Will Be Adjusted—Irrigation Company Will Be Asked to Take Care of All Bridges.

The City Council met in regular session Tuesday evening, Mayor Gurney and all the councilmen being present.

Luther Coates offered to trade the city a gravel bed for the one owned by the city. It appears that the city's bed contains too large a percentage of sand, so the council voted to visit the Coates' bed and a trade may result.

Elmer Peterson submitted a proposition to put in a hopper in the city jail for $39. The matter was referred to the committee on prison with power to act.

Recorder Fyfe asked whether he should send City Attorney A. J. Evans his monthly salary, Mr. Evans being out of the state. The council decided not to pay the attorney during his absence.

The question of the resignation of John Cooper as fire chief was taken up. There is a peculiar status regarding the affair. It appears that Chief Cooper has resigned to the department, but refuses to resign to the mayor because the department refuses to give him the material for a report. The department, in a communication, stated that they "do not know one John Cooper," and rather than give him any report, in another communication, the department tendered its resignation in a body, the resignation to take effect January 1.

The whole matter was referred to the Mayor and the committee on fire department with power to act. If the department stands firm, Chief Cooper will have to get information for his report from another source.

Councilman Evans reported that he and Councilman Wing had made investigation regarding the practice of irrigation companies in other cities, and found that the rule is for the irrigation companies to maintain all the culverts and bridges within the city limits. The council will probably hold a conjoint meeting with the board of the irrigation company, and if the matter cannot be satisfactorily adjusted, litigation may ensue. In the meantime Mayor Gurney and Councilman Wing were appointed to look up the legal phase of the matter.

A motion was carried that five lights be placed on the State Road, running west from Carter's hall, one on the corner near George Zimmerman's place and one in the front of W. E. Evans' home.

Councilman Gilchrist was authorized to have the brush removed from the sidewalk adjoining the Thomas Austin property.

The report of Engineer Jones was read, showing that Featherstone and Holmstead had completed the sidewalk contract at a cost of $8,117.94. The balance of $3,300 due them was voted paid.

The usual budget of bills was presented and allowed.

Gruesome Find Of Old Soldiers' Bones

Dry Farmers in Cedar Valley Plow Up the Bones Of Soldiers Who Came With Johnson's Army.

While plowing on his dry farm in Cedar Valley this week Edward Southwick plowed up what presumably is the bones or remains of two soldiers from Johnson's army. The remains were only about one and a half feet under the surface, but it is supposed that floods and erosion of time may have brought the graves much nearer the surface than they were originally. The boxes, clothing, etc., had decayed entirely. Nothing remained except some of the bones and the nails at the corner of the coffins. The nails were those of the kind used sixty years ago.

Mr. Southwick's farm includes Crittenden Bench, the exact location where Johnson's army camped for the first six months after coming to Utah in the spring of 1859. During this time several of the soldiers died and it is presumed that it is some of these soldiers that were plowed up. Early settlers relate the story that while camped here, one of the soldiers stole $5,000 in gold. He was court martialed, convicted and shot for the crime, but the hiding place of the gold was never discovered.

to the only part built of wood. It will hold fourteen million pounds of sugar and is being rapidly filled up. The sugar was being stacked in the new building as fast as the sides and roof were put on, so that when the building was completed and the west end enclosed, it was already pretty well filled up.

Up to date 27 million pounds of sugar has been made this year, the larger part of which is stored in the factory warehouses. It is estimated that the factory will continue to be filling till January before the present campaign is over.

Bronchial-Pneumonia

Claims a Victim

Never in Lehi's history has there been so many cases of bronchitis, pneumonia and pneumonia among the children. It is epidemic. Hardy a family of children is being missed. Doctors are all being worked overtime. The school attendance is being affected. So far, however, the fatalities have been few.

The five-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dickerson died from an attack of bronchial-pneumonia Saturday morning after suffering for several days. Funeral services were held from the Third Ward Meeting House Monday afternoon. Bishop Henry Lewis presided at the services. The other speakers were Joseph Woodson, John E. Jones, George Webb and S. I. Goodwin. John Roberts gave the opening prayer and Wm. Southwick the benediction. Solos were sung by Doretta Turner and Leona Fox, and a duet by Mary E. Bates and Fern Henson.

THE SICK

The six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brown, who was shot in the breast with a 22 bullet two weeks ago, is now considered out of danger though the bullet has not yet been removed.

Mrs. Frances Richey has been very ill with pneumonia this week.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Phillips, which was very low with an attack of pneumonia last week, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa J. Clark's baby had a severe attack of bronchitis early in the week, necessitating a visit of the family physician.

Grant Larson has been very low for the past week. A rumor stating that he had died gained wide circulation.

Mr. M. W. Ingalls, whose illness last week greatly alarmed his friends, is now apparently making steady progress along the road to recovery.

Miss Leath Whipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Whipple, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at the Lehi hospital Tuesday evening.

Among the babies suffering this week from the bronchitis epidemic are those of Wm. Goates, Eli Batchelor, Joseph Glover, Wm. Gurney, Millard Roberts, Ezra Gray, Jesse Robinson, Harvey Oakley.

Miss Melba Goates was out of school several days this week with lagrippe.

Wm. Austin, who underwent an operation for appendicitis several weeks ago, has been taken home from the hospital.

Mrs. John Cooper was on the sick several days this week.

Mr. Alex Brown was off work several days this week because of illness.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Olmstead is ill with rheumatism.

An X-Ray photograph revealed the location of the 22 bullet with which young Niel Brown was shot, but as it is not in a dangerous location, the doctors decided not to remove it at present.

Mrs. J. E. Jones, who has been suffering from gall stones early in the week, is improving.

Mrs. Jesse N. Smith, who was ill with a severe case of quinsy, is now improving.

Lehi Boy in Mexican Waters

A recent letter from Raymond Whipple states that his ship is again anchored in Mazatlan Bay, on the west coast of Mexico, where he ate Thanksgiving dinner. A souvenir card gives a description of the day's program and the Thanksgiving menu. He has now been in the service two years and is enjoying it to the utmost. Emmett Halsey, a son of J. F. Halsey, is on the same ship.

A Pleasant Place to Visit

One of the pleasant places to visit these bleak wintry days is the home of the Lehi Floral company. Few places in Utah have a better collection of roses, carnations and ferns. The new double heating plant permits the growing of roses to perfection. The company is building up a large business in Eureka and Sanpete County. This week 100 roses were sent to Nephi and 150 carnations to Pleasant Grove.
